

PGME Strategic Plan Update 2012-2017: What are we doing?

Dr. Salvatore Spadafora
Vice Dean, PGME

Postgraduate Medical Education
UNIVERSITY OF TORONTO

In service to the U of T Faculty of Medicine Strategic Plan and in alignment with the FMEC- PG report, PGME enables and supports our partners and programs to establish, meet and exceed best practices in the education of physicians as emerging leaders.

Strengthen each learner's experience across the medical education continuum

More centralized registration activities (Learning modules, mandatory registration elements e.g. vaccinations)

LEAD program for residents, Clinician-Scientist Training Program Task Force both in progress

Resident exit survey to identify issues

'Best Practices' presentations at CCME, AMEE, ICRE.

PGME Exchange to support teachers and leaders

Support and develop local, national and international leadership in evidence-based curricular innovation

PGME Exchange, Consultations with office of education and research

Annual 'Best Practices' working groups –

ITERS- minimum standards implemented

Teacher Assessments- minimum standards disseminated

Application and Selection – recommendations disseminated

Rotation evaluations- in progress

Recognize and support clinical teachers in the delivery of learner and health-system focused education

- New annual teaching assessment reporting format
- Mobile POWER applications
- Community-based teaching awards

Foster leadership in social accountability among PGME learners and faculty

- Representation on local and national health human resources task forces
- Ontario survey of admissions and selections practices - in development
- PGME learner diversity survey- in progress
- Global Health Program (Update today!)

